When I started this column, it was my intention to document the wise words of many of the sport's icons. We started with the Take The Lead Board who have contributed a diverse and fascinating group of essays about their breeds.

Now, we will be opening up the ranks of contributors in hopes of compiling a compendium of knowledge. It's my hope to create an electronic book, published as a fundraiser for Take The Lead as. It is for this reason that I have requested the articles published thus far not be duplicated.

I am also hoping to include some historic essays of the past. If there is such a piece already in existence in your breed, please send me a copy for consideration.
